ABOUT THE INSTITUTE

Tropical Forest Research Institute (TFRI), Jabalpur is one of the premier institutes under the Indian Council of Forestry Research & Education, Dehradun (an autonomous body under Ministry of Environment and Forests, Govt. of India). It was established as a regional center of Forest Research Institute, Dehradun in 1973 and became a full fledged institute in April 1988 with a mandate to conduct research on Non Wood Forest Products, Agroforestry, Forest protection, Biofertilizers and biopesticides, Rehabilitation & climate change, seed improvement and Planting stock improvement etc. The Institute is well equipped with modern analytical instruments and implements its mandate of research programme through competent scientists, forest officers and trained technical personnel placed in nine research divisions and one satellite centre 'Centre for Forestry Research and Human Resource Development' at Chhindwara, Madhya Pradesh. TFRI caters to the overall research needs of forests of four central Indian states, viz. Madhya Pradesh, Chhattisgarh, Maharashtra and Orissa, in particular, and specific issues of forests and forestry sector confronting India, in general. The institute is situated 10 km from the Jabalpur railway station.

ABOUT JABALPUR

Jabalpur is located on the bank of holy river Narmada and is a major administrative and educational hub of central India. The city is gateway to internationally acclaimed wildlife tourist destinations which include Kanha (160 km SE), Bandhavgarh (200 km NE) and Pench (170 km SW) National Parks. Its minimum and maximum temperature is between 21°C to 45°C during summer and 10°C to 27°C during winter. Jabalpur is well connected by Road, Train and Air routes. The tourist places of Jabalpur includes River Narmada, Bedhaghat (Marble rocks, Dhuanthar), Bargi Dam, Madan Mahal Fort and Rani Durgawati Museum.
